Extreme Reading and Extreme Writing

During the summer holidays we'd like you to do us a big favour.

When you go on holiday or out for the day please remember to take a camera, a book, a pencil and some paper with you.

We'd like you to take a photograph of your children reading or writing (or both) in the craziest and most unlikely places. It might be on top of Blackpool Tower, at the end of the pier, under the sea, in a tree, on a boat, a plane - anywhere that you find yourself this summer.

We'd like you to send us your photos so we can make two brilliant school displays

Extreme Reading and Extreme Writing

Prizes will be awarded to the wackiest photos

You can bring your prints in next term or email digital photos to head.StJohnsCrossens@schools.sefton.gov.uk

The more the better!
Happy extreme reading and writing!
